1. The munitions factory Muna in Krapkowice (Krappitz -- P51/J25) was partially destroyed by the retreating Germans near the end of the war; it is now being rebuilt by the Poles.
2. In 1950, a military commission inspected the factory over a period of one month. Soon after, the factory took on new employees.
3. The factory is serviced by a railroad spur leading from Krapkowice to underground bunkers near the factory. The bunkers are made of reinforced concrete and are covered with earth and shrubbery. They are about 25 meters long, 15 meters wide and 2.5 meters deep. They have no windows; instead, small openings serve as air vents. It is not known what is now being produced at the factory.¹
